Queen Jean's Reign is a Merican heart delights in. And when it was all over and the last float and carriage had passed; when the queen and her maids had gone away; when thred little bodies longed for home and little faces were flushed; when little eyes were dimmed with perspiration; when the last little voice had finished that grand anthem, "America," they were asked if they would come again today and every little one responded, "Yes, sir."

Ones to come the same songs they sang?
And when the spirit of a nation's songs are instilled in the breast, the nation's security is assured. The "Wacht am Rhein" stands better guard over the German empire than all her armies, and so long as the Frenchman can chant the "Marseilleg" the safety of France is sacredly guarded as are the treat gans of Gibraltar. So, when the

Thursday's showing fades into insig-

But the floats were not all: the grand ball was not all there was; the other attractions counted much. Ah no. it was the little women who largely contributed to making the carnival yesterday one of the mightiest of suc-

THE FLORAL QUEEN.

THE FLORAL QUEEN.

Troop C, escort for the Floral queen, came in just ahead of the magnificent float in which she sat in gigantic florat sego lily, attended by her maids of honor, and this was the signal for another demonstration. At the sight of the float and the state flower, Bassett gave the signal for "Hurrah, Hurrah for Utah," and every flag again waved, and every voice was raised again. Once more the people entered into the spirk of the occasion and applauded the children to the echo.

LIVING FLAG FLOAT.

Denhalter's band led the second division, which was followed by the living flag float. As the teams entered the tribunes, the leaders backed, and after attempting to gar them. tribunes, the leaders backed, and after attempting to get them going several times, the children became nervous and asked to be let down. The float was one of the prettlest in the parade and it was a pity that it should have happened. But the matter will be remedied today when good steady horses will be secured and the children will be given a chance to appear. The float is made to represent a flag, each child being assigned a position according to the color of her dress, all the stars and stripes being represented. ranged for Director Bassett to provide each of the tiny ones with a flag and a seat and asked them to go to practice every day for the last two weeks. Because it was such a success as every man, whose hopes are centered in the future of this republic, carnestly desires to attain. Beyond all the tinsel of the float and its charming beauty; beyond the glare of the bands; beyond the pride one feels in the display which results from the common effort of those who participate, comes the satisfaction born of a holy sentiment. This said, "The hand that rocks the cradle rules the world." Carry this sentiment to the logical conclusion which it is entitled to and add that the girls of today are the mothers of the future, and who will assert that America and Utah are in danger? When being represented.

UTAH, WE LOVE THEE.

The boys' brigade and the Raymond coach, loaded with little girls in the colors of the nation, came next in line colors of the nation, came next in line and was greeted with cheers. The little women in the stand sang "Utah, We Love Thee," as the float came along and kept it up until the Crescent float, representing a thy one sitting on the moon and attended by others on a mass of fleesy clouds all attired in white, like little angels, came along. This float was a surprise to the people and was cheered to the echo.

Auerbach's business float was next and excited a great deal of admiration.

TILL MONDAY.

The meeting adjourned, after deciding against any further action on any subject, until Monday at 2 o'clock, when the committee provided for will be called together to take action upon any question that may be presented. The meeting was deferred until that time in order to permit the committee to secure official information as to the action of the national committee on the subject of temporary chairman and other questions. Senator Jones was among those deprecating any movement of selecting a temporary chairman. He indicated in his remark that there was still reason to believe the national committee would select a silver man to preside. The committee will also decide at Monday's meeting whether it is destrable to hold a general silver caucus. The question was discussed at some length, several delegates—among them Senator Money -advocating the caucus. Other delegates urged the impracticability of so large a gathering, and it was suggested that any decision to hold such a meeting should at least be postponed until it should be demonstrated whether the committee plan adopted will have a craticable. It is believed will prove practicable. It is believed the postponement of the decision upon a caucus to so late a date will have the effect of preventing the holding of any.

DRUNKEN TIE-CHOPPERS.

They Create a Panic on a Union Pacific Passenger Train.

(Special to The Herald.) CHEYENNE, Wy., July 3.-Three drunknen tie-choppers created a panic on a Union Pacific passenger train today between Medicine Bow and Rock Creek. They were put off the train while attempting to steal a ride, but got on again and paid their fares. They then intimidated a number of passengers and when the conductor attempted to put them off the train for disorderly conduct commenced shooting at him. The passengers were breaking the bunches of starters, thought the train was being heid-up and won away easy by a yard. The rest of were greatly excited. Frank Agan broke soon after the start. But on the far turn Barge and Frank Agan moved up and got within hailing distance. Down the stretch it looked as if Frank Agan would overhaul the leader, but despite McCarthy's efforts, W. W. P. held him safe until Loomis made the fatal mistake of drawing the whip. This was close to the wire, and W. W. P. clearly had Agan beaten, but the whip caused W. W. P. to go into the air and the judges set him back, giving the heat to Frank Agan. There was considerable criticism of the decision, although W. W. P. was in a break when he went under the wire. Badge finished third, Afrite fourth, Direction fifth and Coleridge last. Democratic Goldbugs May as Well Give Up the Fight.

IN SILVER RANKS

Silver Democrats Are in the Political Saddle.

Goldbugs May Plead and Cry Aloud That a Free Silver Candidate and a Free Silver Platform Means Disruption. But Their Pleadings and Their Cries Will Fall on Denf Ears-Silver Democrats Will Ride Rough-Shod Over Precedent and Tradition if Such a Course Be Necessary to Accomplish Their Purpose-The Issue is on, and There Can Be No Mistake Made.

CHICAGO, July 3.-Not since 1850, when the Democratic party met in convention at Charleston and split on the subject of slavery, has such an irreconciliable difference of opinion existed on a great question in issue as now confronts the delegates who are assembling here for the Democratic convention. The situation which the Democrats faced then has its analogies in the one which they confront today.

The northern Democracy, declaring for squatter sovereignty, later, at Baltimore, nominated Stephen A. Douglass, while the seceding southern delegates. declaring for the existence of slavery in the territories under federal law, named John C. Breckinridge. Today the Democrats from the Alleghanies west to the Pacific and from the Potomac south to the gulf, except for the break in Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota, so far as its voice will be heard in the convention next week.

STANDS SOLID FOR FREE COIN-

ACE of silver at 16 to 1, against the equally solid gold standard Democracy of the east. At the threshold of the convention, the gold standard Democrats are defeated-two to one. New York and the little Democratic states of New Jersey and Connecticut, which have since the war always exercised a dominating influence in Democratic conventions, and have each four years named the candidate, on the theory that New York and the two small sister states were the battle ground and their votes essential to success, are to be sent to the rear. The eastern Democracy may plead and cry aloud that a free silver candidate and a free silver platform means disruption, disaster and ruin, but their pleadings and their cries fall on deaf ears. The silver Democracy is in the saddle and will ride rough shod over precedent and tradition if necessary to accomplish their purpose.

That is THE SET DETERMINATION

being placed in the field, as there was CHICAGO, July 3.—John R. McLean, in 1860, so far as the eastern states are concerned, there might as well be, as support in the electoral college from every state east of Ohio has been voluntarily relinquished by those in control for the prospect of a western and southern alliance. This remarkable change in the position of the national Democratic convention toward New York and the east entalls other remarkable conditions which will make the coming convention memorable, and, if its deliberations are crowned with success in November, epoch-making in the history of American politics. At the door of the convention stand the representatives of the two other national parties. the Populists and the silverites, well as the lieutenants of Senator Teller, who led the silver bolt at St. Louis. ready to pledge the support of their organization and their followers, if the convention will put aside the candidates from within the ranks of their party and choose as the standard-

Chairman Taubeneck of the Populist party, Senator Stewart of the silver party, are bending their energies to impress upon the Democratic silver leaders the great strength Teller's nomination would bring to the cause of silver, in which the convention is to enlist. So far as Senator Dubois and Mr. Teller's associates are concerned, they say they stand ready to give came down in one grand procession.

Captain Naylor, of troop C, mounted, led the children's bleycle parade, consisting of about sixty youngsters of both sexes, the same being very pleasing on account of its uniqueness. The There were thousands of them, all clad in white as pure as the innocence they represented, and they sat in the tribunes, while the pageant was passing, and sang songs of home and country till their father's hearts throbbed as they never have throbbed before and the eyes of their mothers grew misty. Why, hal this city gave its visitors no other attraction, no one born with a love of country could have gone gway without feeling better for the exeway without feeling better for the experience, and there would not have been a sigh of regret for the trip, for, when purity and childhood unite in raising their voices in chanting the praise of this land of the free; when youth's pleasing tones blend together in singing the song of liberty, men and women go away feeling that behind all the veneering of difference of opinion, there lives and breathes a

Following the bicycle corps came the famous Sixteenth Infantry band, which led a procession of the committee in carriages. Then it was that Bassett gave the signal to Held's band, which gave the signal to Held's band, which accompanied the school children, who sat in the stand on the south side of the queen's throne, and immediately every little voice was ruised in "Red. 'INDIAN BAND. The Indian band headed the Fourth division, and was followed by the adult bicycle corps, which made a good show-ing, the lady and gentleman on a tan-dem attracting special attention on ac-count of the difficulties they had in before the parade, it having been de-cided that she and they would not par-ticipate. The pageant was more prompt than Thursday, the marshal and his assistants having gotten matters in band, and at the allotted time they riding slowly so as not to get ahead of the balance, a feat which they performed successfully, although it was noted they did not salute the queen, having all they could attend to otherwise.

"FLOWER BASKET."

Then came the basket of flowers, which was the finest float of the day in the estimation of many. The "flow-ers" were beautiful young ladies, and when they passed the stand every! cheered, the queen included Wash Young went into ecstacles, because that float has been his joy and his pride, his "pondered thought by day, his dream by night, his prayer, his offer-ing, his praise," and it is no wonder that he exulted at seeing everything going well. The float was given three cheers, and the same would have been extended indefinitely had not the chil-dren's choir again begun singing "Utah, We Love Thee." Some more children in carriages followed and then "Arizona Charlle" and the "Wild West" show came along. Charlle was tendered an ovation by the people.
